NEW MEDICINES!

THE GREATEST SUCCESS OF THE AGE!!!

NO MORE COD-LIVER OIL, SYRUP OF IODIZED HORSE-RADISH of GRIMAULT and Co., Apothecaries and chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris. According to the certificates of the physicians of the Paris Hospitals, detailed in the prospectus, and with the approbation of several Academies, this Syrup is employed with the greatest success in place of Cod-liver Oil, to which it is really superior. It cures diseases of the chest, scrofula, lymphatic disorders, green sickness, muscular atony, and loss of appetite, it regenerates the constitution by purifying the blood, and is, in a word the most powerful depurative known. It never fatigues the stomach and bowels like the iodide of potassium and the iodide of iron, and is administered with the greatest efficacy to young children subject to humours, or obstruction of the glands. Dr. CABENAVE, of Saint Louis hospital, Paris, recommends it particularly in cutaneous diseases conjointly with the pills which bear his name.

PHOSPHATE OF IRON. DE LERAS, apothecary, doctor of science, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris.—This new ferruginous medicine contains the elements of the bones and blood, and iron in a liquid state. From observations made in the Paris hospitals and detailed in the prospectus, it is superior to ferruginous pills, lactate of iron, iron reduced by hydrogen, pills and syrup of the iodide of iron, and cures rapidly, stomach complaints, painful digestion, poverty of the blood, loss of strength and appetite, and the diseases incident to females. It is the best adjunct to Cod-Liver Oil, and the best preserver of health in tropical climates.

DISEASES OF THE CHEST.—SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME, Manufactured by GRIMAULT and Co., chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris. This new medicine, delicious to the palate, is a sovereign remedy for coughs, colds, irritation of the lungs, and is also an excellent remedy in cases of consumption. Under its influence, the cough abates, nocturnal perspirations cease, and the patient rapidly recovers health and flesh.

ELIXIR OF PEPSINE prepared by GRIMAULT and Co., chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade, Paris, according to the formula of Dr. CORVISART, knight of the Legion of Honour, physician to H.M. the Emperor of the French. PEPSINE is the gastric juice itself, or rather the digestive principle purified, which digests food in the stomach. When from various causes the supply of the digestive fluid is too small, the inevitable consequences are bad digestion, gastritis, gastralgia, inflammation of the mucous coats of the stomach and bowels, heartburn, anæmia, loss of strength, and in females, general derangement. The elixir of Pepsine, which is sanctioned by the approbation of the Paris Academy of Medicine, speedily cures all such diseases, and prevents vomiting during pregnancy.

INTERNAL OR LOCAL NEW CURATIVE AGENT.

MATICO.
GRIMAULT & Co., PARIS.

THIS new remedy is prepared from the leaves of a Peruvian pepper shrub, called Matico, and CURES PROMPTLY and INFALLIBLY without any fear of inflammatory results. The great majority of Physicians in Paris, Prussia, Germany, and New York, now use no other remedy. Full Directions accompany each Bottle and Packet; or an explanatory treatise will be sent post free for 9d.

General Depot:
In Paris,—at GRIMAULT & Co., Chemists, 7, Rue de la Feuillade.
In London,—at NEWBERY & SONS, 45, St. Paul's Churchyard,
In Hongkong,—at IGNACIO QUADROS.
In Shanghai,—at JOHN LEELLEN & Co's. and at all good Druggists in India.

Watch and Clock Maker by Special Appointment, to HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES.

Opinions of the London Press upon BENSON'S Great Clocks and Watches in the Exhibition, 1862.

"As a sample of English clock-work on a large scale, the works of this are probably the finest finished that have ever been seen in this country. No Chronometer could be fitted with more perfect or carefully-adjusted mechanism."—Times, June 11, 1862.

"A triumph of ingenuity."Telegraph, March 31 1862.

"A more splendid and exquisitely-finished piece of mechanism we have never seen,"—Standard, June 17, 1862.

"Some of them are of great beauty, and if the English watch-trade only follow up with the same spirit and success this first attempt to compete with foreigners in decorative watches, there seems to be no reason why we should not get the trade entirely into our own hands."—Times, June 23, 1862.

"Ranged around the base of the clock were the Watches which Mr. Benson exhibited, and which have been universally admired for the beauty and elegance of the designs engraved upon them. The movements are of the finest quality which the art of horology is at present capable of producing. The clock and watches were objects of great attraction, and well repaid the trouble of an inspection."—Illustrated London News, November 8 1862.

HONGKONG, MAY, 7TH 1864.

MR. BLACK'S sixth and last entertainment came off on Thursday night. There was an excellent house, nearly half the audience being ladies. He was in capital humor, and went through his work charmingly. From song to story, from the pathetic to the ludicrous, from home truths to absurd fictions—from irony to flattery, and from badinage to blarney, he rang the changes in a manner truly extraordinary. His efforts to please were very successful and were warmly appreciated. Instead of the novelty of his "Evenings at Home" wearing off, he improves upon acquaintance, and he appears to have raised himself in the eyes of this community to the position of a standing favorite.

At the conclusion of the entertainment he made a neat and appropriate farewell speech. He spoke from his heart, and therefore saying what he meant he was both eloquent and impressive. There is no doubt that he has good reason to be pleased with his visit, not only in a pecuniary point of view, but he has been both well received and agreeably entertained. We are glad, for the sake of the colony, that a wandering star of his magnitude has good reason to hold us in grateful remembrance.

Mr. Black will proceed to Shanghai immediately—by the mail we suppose. We have no doubt that he will be appreciated there as well as he has been here.

IT really is refreshing and gratifying to find a little public spirit and utilitarian talent in the sterile selfish soil of the civil service of this colony. It may be appear to strangers that the officials of this colony are like unto the man in the parable who buried his talent in the earth—but it always seemed to us that they had no talent to bury, and that the moral of the same parable applied—"to "him that hath not shall be taken away even "that which he hath." To be sure the dear (very) departed, much lamented Charles St. George Cleverly Esquire, did put an elegant ceiling to the Court House, as also construct some clipper looking floating police stations, to say nothing about the cup and ball monument to perpetuate the memory of poor Bate. But then these efforts of genius are more of a scientific than an utilitarian nature and cost unheard of sums of money of which there is none left. What we mean is that all ideas of an utilitarian nature appeared so utterly dead within the breasts of the civil servants of this colony, that to witness an effort of the kind, and a successful effort too, filled us with the same feelings of surprise, as though we had heard a hen crow.

Mr A. F. Alves, by birth a Macanese, by rank in the service, accountant of the Treasury, has published a map of Hongkong, which really enables a man to see where he is, and to comprehend the respective positions of the different places and things about him. This map is decidedly the best arranged thing of the kind we ever saw. On the East it commences at Causeway Bay—on the West, at Green Island embracing a little beyond—on the North by the Kowloon cession embracing a little beyond, and on the South by a line intersecting half the Island, and embracing all the villas at Poke-fo-lum. The reader will observe that a map within the boundaries described, includes everything of the least interest except the geographical position of the island, which to make the thing complete is given in an index marginal chart.

The work is most elaborate—every street, road, and almost every house is given. The contemplated plan for lying down a town on Cowloon cession is laid down—the harbor is included and so is Stone Cutters' island. The map is not only elaborate and comprehensive, but is extensive, being about five feet long and four feet broad.

The compiler has derived all his materials from the Government records, and he has been so scrupulous as to have the certificate of the Surveyor General, as to the correctness of the map attached. The young man got it up entirely with his own hands, and had it sent to London to be engraved. The few copies which have arrived out have met with speedy purchasers; but more are on the way. The price is $10; our contemporary of the Mail kindly undertaking the sale. The work does the compiler great credit and we hope will yield him some profit.

There is a moral in all this. The inefficiency of the Surveyor General's department is notorious. Mr. Alves was a clerk therein on a salary of $80 per month. A vacancy arising in the Treasury, he applied for and obtained it at an increase of salary, and he was thus lost to a department which badly wants a man of his proclivities. Surely plenty of young men could have been obtained to have filled the vacancy in the Treasury, but we hould say, few, very few, so well adapted for the Surveyor General's department as Mr. Alves! Would it not have been worth while to have increased his salary and kept him where he was? Mr. Cleverly could be allowed to spend his hundreds of thousands without even being called on for an account, but still wanting assistance as he pretended he did, he could be allowed to attend to all sorts of things outside of his business, and to lose a rising man like Mr. Alves, for the sake of a paltry increase of salary. That is Herculean cheesepiring—that is mowing hay with a razor.

POLICE MAGISTRATE'S COURT.

FRIDAY, 6th May 1864.

BEFORE CHAS. MAY ESQ.

John Thompson, a seaman belonging to H. M. S. Conqueror was charged with being drunk and assaulting the police in the execution of their duty.

Mr. Myburgh defended the accused.

GEORGE GARVER, constable, deposed. Last night about half past 11 o'clock I was called by an Indian Constable to assist in removing the defendant from the Club steps on which he was sitting. I went and with two Indians tried to take him away, on which he became very violent. Inspector Ellis came up and the two Indian Constables handed him (Ellis) both their muskets which he kept possession of until the defendant was lodged in the station. When we were removing the defendant, several gentlemen came out from the Club and tried to rescue him. I saw that the defendant was bleeding from a wound in the head which he received by a fall in the struggle. I was mounted but had got off my horse to assist in taking the defendant, leaving the horse in charge of the other trooper who accompanied me. I am certain that the wound on defendant's head was received by a fall, and not by a blow. I did not strike him at all, I had no whip, but was armed with a cutlass. The defendant appeared more wild than drunk.

Cross-examined by Mr. Myburgh:—Inspector Ellis had two muskets in his hand. I swear that no blow was struck. I also swear that two men of war's men tried to pull defendant away from the police. I heard a party of gentlemen consisting of about twenty say that it was a great shame a prisoner should be so treated. I did not hear anything said about a "cowardly blow." I did not hear Inspector Ellis say at the Station that he had struck the defendant.

EZEKIEL NOXO examined; Last night I with another constable endeavoured to remove defendant from the Club steps, but we were unable to do so owing to his violent resistance; we obtained the assistance of the last witness, and the other constable went to the Station for more assistance. Inspector Ellis came up and took charge of my musket and that of the other Indian constable. Defendant was not once struck by any one, and the wound on his head was received in a fall. I saw some gentlemen come from the Club and remonstrate with the constable Garver asking him to release defendant, but he would not.

Cross-examined:—I have had no conversation respecting this case with Ellis since the occurence. I cannot speak English, but knew by their manner that the gentlemen wished Garver to let defendant go, and he replied "No, No."

Another Indian Constable deposed to having a short time before seen defendant lying drunk near the Clock Tower, and on rousing him he became violent and took away witness's musket and threw it into the road, which broke the stock. Witness recovered his musket and defendant then went and sat on the Club steps from which he with another Indian constable had just succeeded in removing him when Inspector Ellis came up, and with another European assisted in taking defendant to the station, witness keeping possession of his musket himself. Defendant's head was cut by a fall.

Cross examined:—I did not give Ellis my musket to hold; the Inspector had no musket. I found out that my musket was broken immediately I picked it up from the ground after defendant had thrown it into the road. I have not polished it up this morning. That is my musket produced. There was only another constable besides myself with a musket, and I positively swear mine never left my hands.

The musket was here produced the stock was broken, but no scratches were apparent on it.

INSPECTOR ELLIS, said:—Last night about 11 o'clock when I was at the corner of D'Aguilar and Stanley Streets I was called by a constable to assist in removing a violent man from the club steps. I went there and saw that the police troopers were dismounted and endeavouring with other constables to lead defendant away. He suddenly broke from them and was escaping, when an Indian constable tried to arrest him, at whom defendant struck a blow, and I who was holding the muskets of the two Indian constables fearing he would become still more violent pushed him on the back with the butt-end of one of the muskets I was holding, whereupon defendant fell down. There were then only Garver and two Indian constables present besides myself; the Indians had each a musket and I held both of them, and did not let one out of my hand until we arrived at the Station. Defendant was very violent and I considered it needful to strike him with the musket in order to capture him.

Cross examined:—The last two witnesses were the only two Indians present, with the exception of one trooper who had no musket. I cannot swear that the two muskets I held belonged to them, I had both muskets in my hand when I pushed the defendant, I remember a gentleman in a blue uniform accosting me in D'Aguilar Street who asked my name. I had two muskets then in my hands. I will swear that I did not raise one of them over my head to strike defendant. I cannot remember if any one said it was a cowardly blow. Defendant when he fell was left lying only about two seconds, when he was dragged to the Station, I telling the constables to "puckerow" him. He was dead drunk and had to be carried to the Station. He was only lying down senseless for a second, and walked to the station with the assistance of the constables.

European Constable 31 deposed to having been called from the Station to go to the club to assist in taking the prisoner. When he arrived, there was Garver, himself, Ellis and two Indians. A man with a big stick came up to witness and said he would prevent him illusing defendant. Ellis had the two muskets belonging to the Indians.

Defendant being called upon to state what he knew of the matter, said he was not able to recollect anything that occurred except that he knew he was drunk, and was shamefully illused, having received a contusion on the head, which a European constable had confessed at the station he had inflicted with his sword scabbard, and another violent blow across the loins.

Mr. Myburgh then addressed the magistrate, stating that it had become a matter of common notoriety the cruelty which characterises the conduct of the police Force of Hongkong, and the treatment which sailors and others who become helpless with drink receive at the hands of its members both European and Indian is continually the subject of serious remark by officers of the Navy and Army, who have a number of men under their control. It therefore became a public duty for any one who could assist in suppressing such brutality to come forward and expose such disgraceful and criminal outrages as that which he would prove by several witnesses of the highest respectability was perpetrated by Inspector Ellis on defendant. It was purely on public grounds that he came forward to defend the prisoner, on whose part he appeared at the request of nearly thirty members of this community who with himself had witnessed the violent assault of the night previous. He considered that it was high time that an example should be made, for surely a man in authority who would so brutally ill treat a drunken man, when there were five constables, by their own shewing, to take him to the station, was not one who should be permitted to hold so important a post as that of Inspector in the Police Force. He then called.

MR EDWARD C. RAY who said. I am a clerk in, the Firm of Ray & Co. I was in Mr. Watsons opposite the club House last night shortly after 11 o'clock, when I heard some one call out that there was a fight opposite. I went over and saw several policemen trying to drag defendant along while he struggled to get free. I cannot swear to all the constables who were there, but I recognize Inspector Ellis. I saw defendant run about ten yards, and then Ellis who had a musket in his hand raised it over his head, holding it with both his hands by the barrel, and struck defendant with the butt-end as I imagined over the head. Ellis had only one musket I will swear. Between 20 and 30 Europeans were present who with myself cried "shame." I followed to the station to put my name down to give evidence, but this was not requisite as there were so many others. It was a deliberate heavy blow struck by Ellis at defendant's head; he fell apparently senseless. I am under the impression that the blow fell on the head. I did not see defendant strike a policeman prior to this; such might have occurred in the crowd without my seeing it.

By Inspector Ellis: You had only one musket in your hand.

MR. FRANCIS B. FAIRLEY deposed: I am subaccountant at the Oriental Bank. Last night as I was passing the club I saw a European constable dragging the defendant, they both fell, and the European constable struck the defendant and an Indian dragged him along by his hair. I saw Inspector Ellis, while defendant was being held by the constables, deliberately raise a musket with both hands over his head and strike defendant a blow with the butt-end. It was a very heavy blow; I heard something crash but could not tell whether it was the man's head or the musket. Ellis had but one musket in his hand when he struck the blow; I said it was a cowardly act. I went to the Police Station to give evidence regarding what I considered undue cruelty. Many others who also saw the assault committed, went with me for the same purpose, and some gave their names to the Inspector.

By Mr. May:—I did not see defendant strike a policeman. I considered it to be both an unnecessary and cowardly blow.

By Insp. Ellis:—I cannot say that the blow fell on the head; it might have fallen on another part of the body, but it appeared to be on the head. Defendant fell senseless immediately the blow was struck and remained moaning for several minutes. I swear you had only one musket.

MR. WALTER SCOTT RIDDELL, clerk in the Oriental Bank, corroborated the evidence of the two last witnesses in every particular, stating that the blow given by Ellis was so terrific that he (witness) shuddered, imagining that the man had been struck dead.

MR. CHARLES F. A. SANGSTER, clerk in the Registrar General's office also corroborated the above testimony, saying that he was of opinion by the noise that the a musket was broken by the blow.

GEORGE GARVER recalled:—Before Inspector Ellis came I saw that the defendant's head was cut. I know that, because in trying to get him along I got some blood on my hands.

Inspector Ellis being asked by Mr May what he had to say, stated that he certainly struck the defendant in the manner he had before stated, but considered that it was necessary in order to prevent his escape, as a number of gentlemen from the Club were endeavouring to rescue him.

Mr. May, said it was well known that he would always uphold the Police in the execution of their duty, but it was necessary that they should be punished as much for exceeding that duty as for neglecting it. In this case, Inspector Ellis who had been a long time in the service, had, as was proved, committed an error of judgment, he had lost his presence of mind, and he ought to have known better. In this case it appeared that much unnecessary violence had been used by Ellis, which violence would have been upheld by him (Mr. May) had the defendant been armed with a stick or other weapon with which he had maltreated the constables, but such was not the case. He must however say that he considered it highly improper for onlookers to give expression to their feelings by cries of "Shame," which were calculated to excite a prisoner and induce him to make a more determined resistance. He went on to say that it is a well known fact that onlookers would always rather assist a prisoner's escape, than aid the police in taking him to the Station. He however considered that Inspector Ellis was highly culpable and therefore fined him Fifteen Dollars.

The defendant was fined Twenty Shillings.

The affair seemed to be treated by the Inspector and his friends as a capital joke.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR.

To the Editor of the "Daily Press."

SIR,—Your valuable Paper being the only means we have to make known our grievances (which are many) to the Authorities, such Authorities! we venture to trespass on your space. I had occasion to land at the Police Wharf today but found it almost impossible in consequence of the number of large and small Boats surrounding the place, all unemployed, and obstructing the legitimate traffic; (by the way we ought to be deeply grateful to our late Surveyor General for building such a nuisance Praya) and such a stench arising from the accumulation of filth about the Wharf, it would do Governor Robinson good to pay a visit there some morning before breakfast; no chance of getting Fever now the hot Summer is coming, oh! no. Nearly all the other landing places are as bad; have we no remedy? Where are the Police? Are the people of Hongkong asleep or what is the matter with them to put up with such incompetent servants? Why are they paid if they don't do their duty? Have we no one who will take up the cause of the public and do away with some of the many disgraces of the Colony.—Your truly,

A. SUFFERER.

Hongkong 5th May, 1864.

[It is astonishing truly, our bill for black paint and "golo molo" for our boats—the Police Wharf is not the only one where inconveniences of the kind our correspondent alludes to, are felt.—There is not a comfortable place to land at all the way along the whole line of Praya, except occassionally at Peddar's Wharf—(one side of which you can never land at. EDIT. D. P.]
